

St Anns Allotments

Nottingham's unique heritage gardens

The Gardens Come to Town

In January 2015 St Anns Allotments, Nottingham unique Heritage Gardens, are coming to Floor 1 Exhibition Area, Nottingham Central Library.

Immerse yourself in the history of the gardens and learn more about their use today through a series of exhibitions and free events during January including:

Throughout

RANKIN comes to the gardens

An installation of photographs of our gardeners by international photographer Rankin

9th January, 3 – 5pm

Victorian Tea Party

Exhibition launch, have a cup of tea with the team

15th January, 2 – 4pm

Nottingham's Unique Heritage Gardens

An illustrated talk by Mo Cooper, Heritage Officer (booking essential via local_studies.library@nottinghamcity.gov.uk, tel 0115 915 2873)

22nd January, 2pm- 4pm

Beekeeping with Leo Jordon

Ever thought about keeping bees, or interested in how others manage their hives? Leo will provide an introduction to beekeeping, just turn up on the day

29th January, 2– 5pm

Ask a gardener

Informal 1:1s with our long time gardener, Charlie Wesson - just come along and ask any questions about gardening or rearing chickens – Charlie will have the answer!

Library opening hours

Mon-Thurs 9.30-7.00

Fri 9.30- 5.30

Sat 9.00-4.00

More info from

info@staa-allotments.org.uk

Tel 0115 958 9255

www.staa-allotments.org.uk

Follow us on Facebook